Nor little stories gain belief among Our criticallest judges, right or wrongi Nor shall our new-invented chariots draw I5 Th boys to course us in them without law; Make chips of elms produce the largest trees, Or sowing saw-dust furnish nurseries i No more our heading darts (a swinging one!)- With butter only hardend in the sun j tit Or men that use to whistle loud enough To be heard by others plainly sive miles off, Cause all the rest, we own and have avowd To be believd as desperately loud. Nor shall our future speculations, whether 42$ An elder-stick will render all the leather Of schoolboys breeches proof against the rod. Make all we undertake appear as odd. This one discovery will prove enough To take all past and future scandals offi 490 But, since the world is so incredulous Of all our usual scrutinies and us, And with a constant prejudice prevents Our best as well as worst experiments, As if they were all destind to miscarry, a3$ As well in concert tryd as solitary; And Ver. ai3. In this latter part of the speech, Sutler.makes a considerable variation, by adding, omitting, and altering; which it would be both tedious and unnecessary minutely to point out, as. the reader may ii easily compare the two Poems. 3 And that th assembly is uncertain when Such great discoveries will occur again; Tis reasonable we should, at least, contrive.To draw up as exact a Narrative fO Of that which every man of us can swear Our eyes themselves have plainly seen appear, Tha...
